PHD DEFENCE
Maria Hvid Stenalt

A constraint-based understanding of student learning in digital education
Digital student agency: Theoretical and empirical underpinnings of a new conceptualization and its pedagogical implications in higher education

On Friday, 25 June 2021, at 13:00, Maria Hvid Stenalt, MA, will be defending her dissertation.

Teaching-learning interactions are essential to higher education student learning. Universities’ uptake of digital technologies has led many to question if and how digital technologies affect this relation. Maria Hvid Stenalt’s research aims to support this discussion, focusing on the quality of digital interactions from a student perspective.
